Bloons TD 6 has been in development for a long time. Below is a list of information leading to its overall development. Timeline of Events before initial release[] 23 February 2010[] Ninja Kiwi registers the btd6.com domain via GoDaddy.[1] 29 March 2017[] The first image of Bloons TD 6 Ninja Kiwi publishes the first Bloons TD 6 announcement on PRLog, which states the initial goal of a 2017 release date, and features the first image of the Bloons TD 6 logo.[2] PRLog announcement: Ninja Kiwi Announces Bloons TD 6 in Development Huge New Game in the Chart-Topping Series Coming to Smartphones and Tablets AUCKLAND, New Zealand - March 29, 2017 - PRLog -- Ninja Kiwi Limited, an industry leading independent mobile games developer and publisher, confirmed today that it was hard at work on Bloons® TD 6 for the iTunes App Store, Google Play Store, and Amazon App Store. The team has not announced a launch date, as the immense scale and strategic depth of the game require an extensive balance and test period, but their goal is to release the game in 2017. The game's precursor, Bloons TD 5, has been an app store phenomenon since its release in November 2012, remaining in the top 25 ranks of US app store paid charts throughout its life and recently returning to the #1 position on the US Google Play top overall paid apps and #3 US iTunes top overall paid apps. Attracting an impressive 9.3 million downloads as a paid mobile game, Bloons TD 5 has maintained a consistent 4.5 out of 5 star quality rating across the nearly 50 major content updates released to date. Bloons TD 6 will maintain the series' captivating balance of family friendly visual style and challenging, skill based strategic play, but Ninja Kiwi is not currently releasing any information about new towers, new abilities, or new game modes. Consistent with the previous improvements from game to game, the company has said that their intention is to knock it out of the park, as Bloons TD 6 is designed to be more awesome in every way than its top selling predecessor. 27 October 2017[] The first official teaser of the BTd6 Dart Monkey A post on the Ninja Kiwi blog states that the release of Bloons TD6 was delayed to 2018, citing the want to avoid a "rushed game". The post includes an image of a Dart Monkey. What's Up At Ninja Kiwi? - 27 October, 2017 .- We are hard at work on a BTd Bae, yes mobile update, we're looking into what development time/resources we can swing towards SAS4 mobile/Steam (no ETA) and Bloons TD 6 is looking to be feature complete before the offices close down in December. With that we have some sad but encouraging news: BTd6 will be released next year. Putting the game together in a stable, fun and freakishly awesome package is our main priority. BTd5 is a lot to live up to and we don't want to let you or ourselves down with a rushed game. We will start releasing information and media about BTd6 to show it off a little, but it's ready when it's ready and here's a cheeky Dart Monkey modelling a dart to prove it. ... 23 November 2017[] HayleyBelleNK, an administrator of the Ninja Kiwi Forums, makes a post reiterating the delay to 2018.[3] It features the silhouette of Quincy. Bloons TD 6 Update Hey all, We thought it was time for an update on Bloons TD 6. In short we're now looking at a 2018 release. We can't say when but we do know we have a fair way to go before delivering the quality bar that our loyal (and patient) fans deserve. BTW, Quincy says 'Hi.' 15 April 2018[] The Bloons TD 6 Facebook account publishes an image of a corkboard, which depicts information concerning the Alchemist Monkey. 16 April 2018[] The Bloons TD 6 Facebook account updates their cover photo to a new image of the Bloons TD 6 logo, and updates their profile picture to an image depicting a group of bloons, where notably a new purple bloom with a blue outline appears. Analysis Aside from the purple bloom mentioned earlier, there is really not much to see. 19 April 2018[] The Bloons TD 6 Facebook account publishes an image of a file, which depicts information concerning a monkey appearing to control the weather and plants, hinting at Obyn Greenfoot and/or the druid monkey. This has been revealed to be the Druid in the initial release, specifically Spirit of the Forest as shown in the teaser. Analysis Solving the substitution cipher yields the following potential results (highlight text to reveal). Note at the top: A Guardian of te Forest and a Warrior of Nature Enemy of Bloons Paper sheet: Creates a blast of storms for each attack. Upgrades can call forth the [REDACTED] of the [REDACTED]. Photo note: Spirit Forest. 24 April 2018[] The Bloons TD 6 Facebook account publishes a collage of surveillance photos primarily depicting Quincy. Analysis Aside from the oblivious Quincy "screenshots", we can see the following: A tape that says "HERO (A)". Numbers at the top, which which can be converted to text: "son of Quincy" 1 May 2018[] The sixth teaser, showing some actual gameplay. The Bloons TD 6 Facebook account publishes greyscale images of gameplay, the 3D model and texture of the Ice Monkey in Photoshop, and a photo of Unity 3D. 9 May 2018[] The seventh teaser. There are images of Gwendolin on the track. These images are presented as "footage" in the same manner as previous trailers. Analysis One of the tracks appears to be the same as the track seen the Archer Monkey teasers. 16 May 2018[] A teaser roundup has been published on Ninja Kiwi's YouTube channel, showing everything they have published so far. In addition, the teaser has also been promoted via the Bloons TD Battles Mobile news menu. The teaser can be seen right here. 21 May 2018[] The eight teaser, a "hero bio" for what may be a new tower. The Bloons TD6 Facebook group has posted an image which showcases a brief bio of the hero Striker Jones, which includes details about his abilities and attacks as well as a few pictures of him on various tracks. Analysis The bio features two pictures of what appear to be Striker Jones's artwork. The grayscale picture depicts him carrying a rocket launcher, while the more polished, colorized picture shows him with a bazooka; it could be that his design has been changed during development, or an upgraded version. As for Jones's bio, it is said that he's knowledgeable in long range combat and uses his skills to increase the power of explosives. This implies that his main function may be to increase the popping power of any tower that uses explosives. Additionally, the bio says he has two Activated Abilities, the Concussive Shell and Artillery Command. 25 May 2018[] A short gameplay demo is released, showing the new 3D models for the Sniper Monkey, Dart Monkey, and Monkey Sub. There also appears to be a new feature of landscape obstructions. There are various tracks shown, but most of them are just variations of BTd5 tracks. One of the tracks was previously shown in the Quincy teaser. The tracks in this teaser were revealed to be Hedge, Spice Islands, and Streambed, respectively. This teaser is the first teaser to display the interface of the actual game. Analysis Based on the blurred tower menu, it appears that Boomerang Thrower, Bomb Tower, Tack Shooter, and Ice Tower will almost certainly make reappearance in the game. Several other unknown towers also appear in the towers menu. 30 May 2018[] Bloons Tower Defense 6 is released on Google Play. However, it cannot be played until June 14. On the App Store, the app is available for pre-ordering at the cost of $4.99 USD. In addition, the Facebook pages in Bloons TD Battles and Ninja Kiwi have promoted BTd6's post about the pre-releases. Based on the initial App Store release, it is expected to be fully released on June, 14 2018. In addition, the official website is open. About the author Quick Links Edited by Abu Amjad Khan This week's free games on the Epic Games Store are Homeworld Remastered Collection and Severed Steel, catering to sci-fi fans with RTS and FPS gameplay. Bloons TD 6 and Loop Hero will be the next free game available on August 3, offering smaller but still worthwhile experiences. The free offerings on the Epic Games Store have been enjoyable and diverse, and Bloons could be a refresher from some otherwise intense games. Befitting its typical every Thursday at 10 am CT rotation, the Epic Games Store has made its latest free offerings (Homeworld Remastered Collection and Severed Steel) available, while revealing the games that will join next week: tower-defense game Bloons TD 6 and Loop Hero. Previously, the Epic Games Store gave away Elder Scrolls Online and Murder by Numbers, ensuring that players had distinct options. The former, as a MMO, has hundreds of hours of content players can enjoy, so hopefully everyone was able to pick it up before the swap out. Whereas the previous offerings were completely different games, the Epic Games Store free games for July 27 are devoted to Sci-Fi fans: Homeworld Remastered Collection and Severed Steel. The former is incredibly popular, but if sci-fi fans are unfamiliar, it's an RTS game based on space battles where unit types, fleet formations, and flight tactics all come into effect. Meanwhile, Severed Steel is an FPS boasting a fluid stunt system, destructible environments, and a lot of trigger finger work in a sci-fi setting and superstructure. After this week, though, Epic Games Store users will be able to claim Bloons TD 6 and Loop Hero, with the games remaining free from August 3 until August 10. The former is an iconic, if somewhat niche, franchise that many fans will already know about. It's a tower defense game featuring playful visuals, co-op gameplay, fun and zany characters, and so on. In it, players will need to fend over waves of increasingly challenging enemies. Meanwhile, Loop Hero sees players trying to save a world from a lich, with unique loop-based gameplay. Epic Games Store List (July/August 2023) Homeworld Remastered Collection (July 27 - August 3) Severed Steel (July 27 - August 3) Bloons TD 6 (August 3 - August 10) Loop Hero (August 3 - August 10) Bloons and Loop Hero may not live up to everyone's expectations, but something more mindless and fun to follow a big MMO, intense RTS gameplay, and so forth makes sense. At the same time, it's worth mentioning Baldur's Gate 3's PC release is on August 3 too, meaning that this could have been a big giveaway that could still go largely ignored. After all, BG3 is an entry in a franchise that has defined CRPGs. Still, between sessions of it, some relaxing Loop Hero and Bloons gameplay could be fun. All in all, it's been a pretty great few weeks on the Epic Games Store. From time to time, it appears to get into a rut where the offerings are incredibly small or niche, meaning that the only real reason to check them out is that they're free. That really can't be said about last week's offering, that can't be said about EGS' giveaway of Homeworld Remastered Collection and Severed Steel, and the ease and popularity of a tower defense game could be seen as a small refresher. Epic Games Store users get a handful of games every month. MORE: Remnant 2: Can You Pet the Dog?
