Home > Events > Golf > Majors > The Masters > 2025 The US Masters 2025 begins on Thursday, April 10 at Augusta National Golf Club. This tournament marks the first major of the year. It concludes on Sunday, April 13. The event brings together players from both the PGA Tour and LIV Golf circuits. hole 10 at the Augusta National Golf Club, Hole 10

Star players like defending champion Scottie Scheffler and Rory McIlroy generate significant interest. Their performance directly impacts betting markets and global viewership. The tournament draws attention from casual fans and serious bettors alike. Player demographics, sponsorship deals, and social media presence affect how audiences engage with the Masters. Understanding these elements provides context for betting decisions. What factors will most influence outcomes at Augusta this year? Masters 2025 Players to Watch The 2025 Masters field includes top competitors from multiple tours. Oddsmakers established betting lines months before the tournament. Several players stand out based on statistical analysis. World rankings, recent performances, and historical success at Augusta National serve as key indicators. Veterans with course experience compete against new talents seeking their first green jacket. This creates diverse betting options across multiple markets. The field features a balance of established champions and emerging contenders. This competitive equilibrium reflects in the current betting odds. Jon Rahm Player Profile: Jon Rahm is 30 years old. The Spanish player won the Masters in 2023. He employs a power-based approach that suits Augusta's layout. His game features strong driving distance and precise iron play. Recent Form: Rahm moved to LIV Golf after his Masters victory. This transition affected his official world ranking. His statistical performance remains solid despite this change. His major results have varied since his 2023 triumph. He finished 45th in the 2024 Masters. Influence: Rahm maintains global popularity despite reduced television exposure on LIV Golf. His current odds stand at +1500. This places him among the top tier of contenders for the 2025 tournament. Jon Rahm Masters History Finish Score 2024 45th +5 2023 1st -12 2022 T27 +4 2021 T5 -6 Scottie Scheffler - Reigning Champion Player Profile: Scottie Scheffler enters as the defending champion. His odds stand at +460, making him the clear favorite. His methodical approach yields consistent results at Augusta. His length off the tee creates advantages on the par 5 holes. Current Trends: Scheffler's influence extends beyond tournament play. His social media presence continues to grow. His rivalry with McIlroy generates significant media coverage. This attention translates to increased betting activity on both players. Tournament History: Scheffler and McIlroy played together in the final round of the 2024 Masters. This pairing produced high television ratings. Scheffler's consistent performance in major championships makes him a statistical favorite. He rarely finishes outside the top 10 in major events. Masters Odds 2025. Favorites Odds Scottie Scheffler +460 Rory McIlroy +650 Ludvig Aberg +1500 Jon Rahm +1500 Collin Morikawa +1700 Rory McIlroy - A Career Grand Slam? Player Profile: Rory McIlroy is 35 years old. He needs only the Masters to complete a career Grand Slam. He finished second at Augusta in 2022. This represents his closest attempt to date. His odds for 2025 stand at +650. McIlroy maintains an active media presence. He speaks candidly about golf's industry issues. His charitable work extends his influence beyond the course. His status as the second betting favorite reflects his consistent performance level. The pursuit of the career Grand Slam creates a compelling narrative. This storyline attracts casual viewers to the tournament. His odds reflect both his skill level and the public's betting interest in his quest for the green jacket. Tiger Woods - A Notable Absence Player Profile: Tiger Woods will not compete in the 2025 Masters. He suffered a ruptured Achilles tendon in March 2025. This injury required surgery. The 49-year-old's absence removes a historical focal point from the tournament. His 2019 Masters victory remains a significant moment in golf history. Woods continues to influence media coverage despite his absence. His name affects betting patterns even when not participating. He maintains prominent sponsor relationships and media platforms. These connections preserve his position as golf's most recognized figure. The Masters 2025 predictions must account for Woods' absence. Some players perform differently when Woods is not in the field. This creates statistical anomalies for bettors to consider when placing wagers. Rising Stars - Collin Morikawa, Viktor Hovland, and Sungjae Im Player Profiles: Collin Morikawa (28): This two-time major champion recorded three consecutive top-10 finishes at Augusta. His iron play suits the course demands. His current odds stand at +1700. This places him fifth among betting favorites. Viktor Hovland (27): The Norwegian player improved his short game. This addresses previous weaknesses at Augusta. He finished T7 in 2023. His odds of +6500 represent potential value. Sungjae Im (27): The South Korean finished second in his 2020 Masters debut. His consistent play translates well to Augusta's layout. His odds of +7500 place him among potential longshot selections. Recent Form: Morikawa leads tour statistics in approach shots. Hovland's technical adjustments show positive results in recent tournaments. Im maintains a busy competitive schedule. This keeps his game sharp throughout the season. Statistical Analysis: These players represent the global expansion of elite golf. Their profiles appeal to diverse demographic groups. Their odds provide various options across betting markets. These range from outright winners to top-10 finish propositions. Rising Star Best Masters Finish 2025 Odds Betting Value Collin Morikawa T3 (2024) +1700 High Viktor Hovland T7 (2023) +6500 Very High Sungjae Im T2 (2020) +7500 Sleeper Trends Influencing Golf's Popularity in the 2025 US Masters The professional golf landscape underwent significant changes. The emergence of LIV Golf created a dual-tour system. The Masters 2025 represents one of four annual opportunities for players from both circuits to compete directly. This situation affects betting markets and viewer engagement. Social media platforms provide increased access to player information. Athletes build personal brands through these channels. This content offers bettors additional data points for analysis. These insights inform wagering decisions beyond traditional statistics. Advanced analytics changed how performance gets measured. Strokes gained metrics appear in mainstream broadcasts. These statistics provide deeper insights than traditional measures. Betting strategies now incorporate these advanced metrics for more precise predictions. Viewing options expanded through digital platforms. The Masters offers customized streaming services. These options allow fans to follow specific players or holes. This personalization creates opportunities for specialized betting markets. In-play wagering benefits from these enhanced viewing capabilities. Augusta National's course layout evolves while maintaining traditional features. These adjustments affect scoring patterns each year. Historical data analysis reveals how these changes impact specific player types. Can course modifications influence which playing styles succeed in 2025? Recent News on the 2025 US Masters Scottie Scheffler enters the Masters tournament with exceptional momentum. He won the Arnold Palmer Invitational and The Players Championship in March. These victories solidified his position as betting favorite. His current form resembles Tiger Woods' dominant periods from past eras. Injury reports affect betting considerations for several contenders. Bryson DeChambeau manages an ongoing wrist condition. Brooks Koepka continues rehabilitation for knee issues. These physical concerns create uncertainty in performance projections. Practice round observations provide valuable insights into these players' current capabilities. The meeting of PGA Tour and LIV Golf players generates media attention. The limited competitive crossover between tours increases interest in their head-to-head performances. Practice round pairings between players from different circuits attract significant spectator numbers. Equipment changes impact several players' approaches to Augusta. Rory McIlroy switched drivers recently. This change added distance but potentially reduced accuracy. Justin Thomas modified his putter setup. These adjustments affect performance projections and betting considerations. Weather forecasts suggest firm playing conditions. This prediction influences preparation strategies. Players with Augusta experience gain advantages in faster conditions. Betting markets reflect these projections with slight odds adjustments. Players known for performing well in firm conditions receive increased betting support. It is held every year at Augusta National Golf Club in Georgia. The Masters is part of golf's Grand Slam, and the opportunity to slip on the winner's green jacket is considered the high point of any pro's career. Over the years, the course has been the site of streaks, broken records, and shocking surprises. Masters winners have been seasoned veterans and fresh-faced rookies alike. Looking for Masters winning scores for specific years? Find every year's winners, winning score, and winner's prize payout below. The list of Masters tournament winners is sprinkled with some of the most famous names in golf. Over the past nine decades, top golfers like Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Tiger Woods and Gary Player have claimed the famed Masters title. Woods famously set the scoring record in 1997 at 270 (-18), which Jordan Spieth matched in 2015. Dustin Johnson, however, bested that mark by posting 20-under par 268 in the 2020 Masters, which is the only Masters in history to be contested in November, due to COVID-19. Today, the Masters winner takes home more than $4 million, one of the largest payouts on the PGA Tour, along with the green jacket. However, the payouts haven't been so handsome throughout Masters history. Horton Smith took home just $1,500 for winning the inaugural Masters in 1934, and the winner's share remained the same until 1945. Early Masters champions also left without a green jacket, as that Masters tradition was not introduced to winners until 1949.
